

Emre Kuscu, TA

Geography

Ömer Emre Kuşcu is a first-year PhD student in Geography, specializing in military geography and geopolitics. His research investigates the power of geographical knowledge and its capacity to shape spatial and political realities. Ömer holds an MA in Geography from Istanbul University, where he conducted research on military geography.